All Saints Assisted Living was characterized by one judge as the “outlier” in its category, but in truth the judges admired many of the same qualities as the winner, the Wisconsin Heart and Vascular Institute. “I thought this had a nice resort-like quality to it, which was rather nice to be permanently on holiday,” said one judge. “It didn’t have a kind of a mean, institutional quality.”

A judge also said, “For an assisted living facility, I thought there was a lot of dignity to this.”

Another judge, who liked All Saints’ facade and finishes, said it passed his personal test. “For me, the acid test is, would I put my mother in a facility like this? And the answer is yes,” he said.
